Federated Charities Drive Falls Short Of Objective

Campaign Considered Moderately Successful — R. V.C. Overseas Subscribers Quota

Substantial returns from the R.V.C. and Graduate Nurses yesterday enabled these two sections to reach their objectives and raised the total collections in the Federated Charities Appeal to $1336.13 or 66.8% of the $2,000 quota set for the McGill students' section of the campaign.

The Charities Committee, headed by Herbert K. Crabtree, is particularly pleased to observe that contributions exceed those of last year by over $40 and wish to thank all contributors for their loyal support of the campaign and also to appeal to those who were not able to contribute last week to do so, if possible, within the next few days.

R.V.C. Reaches Objective
While the Commerce delegation, under the direction of Frank Campbell, deserves special mention for collecting 121.6% of their objective as does Bill Mitchell and his Law representatives for collecting considerably more than their quota, Constance Brown and her R.V.C. representatives perhaps are even more deserving of recognition.

By collecting $642.00 yesterday they not only surpassed their quota but had to their credit an aggregate contribution of $338.05 or more than any other two sections in the campaign combined. The Graduate Nurses section was the only other one to reach their objective having done so under the leadership of Miss Anderson.

Other Contributions High
The Library School, Arts, Engineering, and Medicine all contributed substantially more than half of their quotas, and in most cases more than they contributed last year. Herbert K. Crabtree wishes to thank all faculty representatives for the time and effort spent in order to make this campaign so successful. Class and group representatives and all subscribers are also thanked for their part in making the large contribution from McGill students to the Federated Charities possible.

Though the returns are lower than the objective set, McGill students have clearly indicated that they are solidly behind the Charities Campaign, according to the Chairman of the division, and the total collected is remarkably high under the circumstances. At the same time, he expresses the hope that additional subscriptions throughout the week will raise the total to $1,500.

Charities Committee
The committee in charge of collections was made up of the following:—Gwen Halpern representing the Library School, Malcolm Ransom and John McDonald representing Arts, Ned Hankin representing Engineering and Ronald Denton and Robb MacDonald representing Medicine. Frank Nobbs looked after the returns from Architecture while Art Minnion took charge of the Graduate School section. Theology was represented by Doug Webb, (continued on page two)

Dunton Speaks On Hitler In Germany

"Hitler" will be the subject of Mr. A. D. Dunton's address to the Historical Club tonight at a meeting to be held at the home of T. P. Howard, 3261 Cedar Avenue, Westmount. There will be an election of officers following the paper.

Mr. Dunton, a former McGill student, has just returned from two years' travelling in Europe, during which time he has become well acquainted with the European views of the Nazi movement.

Initial Opening of Shop Productions To Start Tonight

Workshop Play To Be Presented At Eight P.M.

Tonight at eight p.m., the curtain goes up on the first Workshop dramatic production of the season. Admission is free, and it is expected that the capacity of the Y.M.C.A. auditorium will be taxed to the utmost. Members of the Players' Club and all other students interested are advised to get to the hall early, as many were turned away from last year's productions. Attention is drawn to the fact that the performance begins at eight, not at eight-thirty.

An eye-witness of last night's final Dress Rehearsal stated that the evening's entertainment will keep up the high standard set by previous Workshop productions. Eward Stikeman, chairman of the Workshop, is confident that both actors and technical crew will combine to give a very smooth production, demonstrating the various stages of play production studied by the Workshop.

Faculty Invited
The Executive of the Players' Club invites any of the Faculty and students to take advantage of this opportunity to see three one-act plays, two of which have proved popular to English and American audiences, and a third written by a McGill student.

The first play to be presented is "A Wedding," by John Fitzpatrick. This light comedy is directed by Miss Charlotte Bowman, and its cast includes Misses M. Edgar, J. Smart, and J. Crutchlow; and Messrs. G. Bourne, T. Montgomery, K. Wiele, and A. K. Robertson. "Neverlasting," a play written and directed by Laurence MacGregor comes next. Its cast is made up of Miss Betty Weldon and Messrs. D. Cam and D. Kircher.

Legal Knowledge In Medicine Discussed By Dr. J. de Belle

Was Speaker At Medical Undergraduate Society Last Night

NOT IN CURRICULUM
Legal Instruction Is Of Considerable Importance In Many Cases

"Some of the Legal Aspects of Medicine" was the special feature of the second meeting of the Medical Undergraduate Society. This address was delivered by Dr. de Belle of the Royal Victoria Hospital last evening in the Assembly Hall of the Medical Building.

At the outset Dr. de Belle announced have been "The Doctor on the Witness Stand" to that already stated. The speaker stated that no instruction in Medical Jurisprudence is provided in the curriculum, yet such instruction is of considerable importance. Legal knowledge is of great value on four points: the medical document, notification of the authorities, on the witness stand, and for protection against action by the patient.

Four Points of Value

On the first point Dr. de Belle advised absolute accuracy and the full consent of the patient to any case report or other document. Secondly he stated that in certain types of diseases and in all accidents, attempted suicides, etc., the civic authorities must be notified. The third point stressed by Dr. de Belle was the giving of evidence in court actions. Here he advised absolute truth and a complete knowledge of the subject on which the examination is being conducted. The safety of the practitioner can be secured by having a signed release in which the patient gives him complete authority in the management of the case, and also by accuracy in any documents pertaining to the case.

Dr. de Belle gave several instances (continued on page two)

Newman Club Plans Weekend Convention

McGill Unit Convene In Toronto Coming Weekend

The Canadian Newman Clubs have arranged their annual convention to take place in Toronto over Armistice week-end. Delegates will be present from the Newman Clubs of Queen's, McGill and Dalhousie and probably from the Clubs at the Universities of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

The Toronto Club has arranged an elaborate program of activities that will commence with a dance on Friday night followed by a business meeting on Saturday morning. The Varsity-McGill game will be the attraction Saturday afternoon followed by a dinner and party after the game. On Sunday morning the delegates will attend a military Mass at the Toronto Newman Club chapel followed by a business session. In the afternoon there will be a tea and musical at the Toronto Club. All these social events will be free to Newman Club members attending except the game. The executive of the McGill Club hope that a large delegation of members of the Montreal Club will be present at this convention; especially since the Athletic office will operate an excursion to Toronto at the attractive price of $8.05 return if sufficient students signify their intention to make the trip.

All members of the Newman Club who are seriously thinking of being present at the convention are requested to get in touch immediately with either Stephen Manchur, LA. 3850, or Bob Quinn, WI. 7601. It is expected that hotel accommodation can be arranged at the Toronto Newman Club-house without extra charge to those who are attending the convention.

Reunion On Friday

U.B.C. Alumni Hold Annual Gathering At Windsor Grill

The Alumni Association of the University of British Columbia will hold its annual reunion this Friday night at the Windsor Grill at 10 o'clock. Music will be provided by Maurice Meerte and his orchestra. The entertainment will be in accordance with the old Gold and Blue traditions.

The graduates of U.B.C. the world over celebrate at this time the "Homecoming of the Grads." All U.B.C. students, whether at McGill or not, are invited. By special concession, tickets will be two dollars a couple.

Macdonald Invited To University For Mock Parliament

It was announced yesterday at a meeting of the executive of the Debating Union that the next forenoon encounter of the Society would take the form of a Mock Parliament this month in which a visiting team from Macdonald College will oppose the McGill men. Negotiations are being carried on with Ste. Anne's and further details will be announced when the arrangements have been completed. It is expected that a team from the University will meet Macdonald on their own platform at the same time.

Arthur J. Marshall will fill the position of Clerk of the House and any who desire to participate in the debate on the floor of the House may communicate with him. The subject has not yet been announced.

This is the second event on the program of the Debating Union Society which bodes fair to include several other novel and interesting features. Among other arrangements it is hoped that debating revisions with Queen's University will be renewed after a lapse of a few years.

Special Prices To Toronto Arranged

Tickets For Game Obtainable In Advance

RESERVED SECTION

Large Number Of McGill Students Expected To Accompany Team

Special rates have been arranged with the railroads for the trip to Toronto this coming Saturday when the football classic of the season is scheduled with Toronto Varsity meeting the McGill pennant hunters in a game to break the three cornered tie presently existing. It is expected that a large campus delegation will accompany the team to Toronto and to lend support to the numerous graduates who are making the Ontario city their headquarters over the week-end.

Seats Reserved

The McGill Society of Toronto have arranged to reserve a certain number of desirable seats for the use of McGill's supporters. Their representative, Mr. E. G. McCracken, c/o Sangamo Co. Ltd., 183 George Street, Toronto, Ont., will receive advance applications for seating accommodation at the game. Covered stand seats at two dollars each and open stand seats at one dollar and a half may be reserved by enclosing cheques, including fifteen cents for bank exchange.

It should be remembered that no seats will be reserved without advance remittance nor will tickets be held after eleven o'clock Saturday forenoon at the Toronto end.

Famous Scientist Is Discussed By Club

Biological Society Holds First Meeting This Afternoon

At the opening meeting of the year the Biological Society will consider the life of Pasteur, when Grant Lathe will read a paper on "The Life of Pasteur." This meeting will be held at 5 o'clock this afternoon in Room 21 of the Biological Building. It is open to all students of the university.

Sir William Osler said, "Among the researchers that have made the name of Pasteur a household word in the civilized world, three are of the first importance—a knowledge of the true nature of the process of fermentation; a knowledge of the chief maladies which have scourged man and animals; a knowledge of the measures by which either the body may be protected against these diseases, or the poisons neutralized when once within the body."

The speaker will consider all these phases, and show how Pasteur's work has added on the average twenty years or so to the lives of hundreds of millions of people.

All students interested are invited to attend the Players' Club lecture this Thursday at five o'clock. Mr. D. M. Legate, critic for Amateur Dramatics of the Montreal Star, will speak on "Art for Heaven's Sake!"

Pupils Need Pursue Studies Further To Be Really Educated

Miss C. I. Mackenzie Discusses "Your Daughter Going To High School"

ADDRESS BROADCAST
Matriculation And College Course Only Suited For Academically Minded

"If the High School leaving certificate, with all its attendant ceremonies, means the end of good reading, no more interest of things of the mind, then the High School course academically speaking, has been wasted," stated Miss C. I. Mackenzie in her radio talk last night. The topic of the address was "Your daughter going to High School" and was broadcast over CKAC under the auspices of the McGill Graduates' Society.

At the outset Miss Mackenzie stressed the importance of the fact that an Academic course in High School, in contradistinction to the General Course, is planned solely for the "scholar" while the broader and more general course is more suited to the general-run of pupils. In further developing this point the speaker stated that only the academically minded should enter a University.

School Shapes Future

The secondary schools offer a choice of studies, as much as possible, according to the ability of the student, her inclinations towards study, and her plans for later life. Whether the pupil is preparing for further studies or not, the high school offers her an excellent opportunity of shaping her future, in all lines of endeavor.

The speaker pointed out the excellent medical care and supervision over the pupils which the City Health Department gives, but emphasized the fact that diagnosis and advice was useless unless parents cooperated in seeing that recommendations be carried out regarding the child's health. School activities play a most prominent part in the school, both in recreation such as sports and social, as well as carrying out a wide scope in promoting the young girl's interest along musical, dramatic and literary lines. Group piano classes hitherto offered only to (continued on page four)

Science Upheld As Aid To Civilization

Anderson And Levites, Of Affirmative, Win Debate

A. Anderson and S. Levites, upholding the affirmative in the resolution that "The Results of Scientific Investigation Have Furthered Human Happiness," carried the debate, which was upheld yesterday by the Junior Debating League in the Music Room of the Union.

The first speaker, Levites, made a speech in which he showed how much happier the man of today is than his ancestors. He touched on the advances made in the fields of agriculture, manufacture, medicine, and so on; an advance that tended not only toward physical, but mental and spiritual improvement as well.

Lapitsky, on the other hand, argued that modern improvements tend to make an artificial life in which happiness is stimulated and is effervescent rather than inward and real. His confere, Starkey, defined happiness as satisfaction with one's surroundings and situation; and judging by this standard, modern man was anything but happy; restlessness and discontent are the characteristics of people of today.

At the end of the meeting an election was held in which A. Anderson was elected Secretary for the coming year.

Bandsmen Practice

Will Also Discuss Toronto Trip

A very important Band practice will be held this afternoon at five p.m. in the Union Ballroom, when it will be decided whether the Band will go to Toronto for the Varsity game. The difficulty in making this trip is purely financial, and thus all bandsmen are requested to come and voice their opinions. If the trip is undertaken, an appeal will be made to the student body to help defray the expenses. This will be done by means of a "tag day."

At this afternoon's practice, the Band will start work on the Concert music which they will render at the Musical Association concert. It is only through the regular attendance of the bandsmen that this music can be attempted.

Artists Encouraged For Players' Club Poster Competition

All artistically minded students possessing a flair for composing posters will find ample opportunity of exercising their talents in the Players' Club new Poster Contest. The Club desires the submission of attractively-designed posters to be used to publicize that mystery thriller, "Rope," by Patrick Hamilton, which is to be presented during the middle of next month.

Obviously, any such efforts will not go unrewarded. The owners of the best two efforts handed in will be presented with two tickets apiece to the play, having their choice of any one of the three nights during which it will be performed.

Any of those entering the contest, who are desirous of having a look at the script first, may do so by coming to the club office. All entries should be addressed to the executive of the Players' Club, and left at the Club offices in the Union, or with Bill Gentleman, in the Arts Building. The deadline for all entries has been set at the end of the month.

Labour Club To Have Wolofsky's Ideas On Russia

Spent Two Years Working In Soviet Factory

"MY Two Years in Russia" will be the subject of an address by Mr. M. Wolofsky, a graduate of Columbia University, when speaking at the McGill Labor Club in Strathcona Hall tonight at 8:15 o'clock. The speaker has spent the past two years in Soviet Russia where as a factory worker he had opportunities to study working conditions and the attitude of the workers.

Russian Experiments

In view of the probability of American recognition of the Soviets this address should be of particular interest to all students who are interested in the working out of Russia's objectives. The Labor Club extends an invitation to all interested to attend as the question and answer period is expected to be replete with interesting sidelights upon this highly important socio-political experiment.

In view of the general timeliness of the subject of discussion and the opportunity to seek information upon the actual working conditions in Soviet Russia today, the McGill Labor Club expects that the seating capacity of the lecture room will be tested to accommodate the number of those who will attend this evening's lecture.

Holds Competition

Societe Francaise Meet November Ninth In Contest

The first meeting of La Societe Francaise, which will take the form of a competition of story telling, will take place on November the ninth. These stories are to be from two to five minutes long and may be of any character. It is not necessary to speak French fluently or to possess the powers of an orator in order to enter.

Lists are posted in the Common Room of the Arts Building, and in R.V.C. and all those who would like to compete are requested to sign. Prizes will be given for the best stories.

Excursion Planned For McGill-Varsity Game

Of special interest to students is the fact that there will be an excursion to Toronto for the Varsity-McGill game, this week-end providing that sufficient students signify their intention of going. The train will leave the C.P.R. station at 3:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 10, and is expected to reach its destination sometime before midnight. The return fare for this trip will be $8.05, which will include one night's lodging at the Ford Hotel.

This excursion will be open to all and everyone, but the tickets will only be sold through the McGill Athletic Office. Those desirous of obtaining these tickets should apply for them not later than Thursday noon. The train ticket entitles the bearer to a four day stop-over in Toronto, that is to say,

Alarm Clock Makes Initial Appearance Of Year Tomorrow

N.R.A. Featured In First Issue Of Labour Club Organ

LARGER CIRCULATION

Copies On Sale At Over Thirty Newsstands Throughout City

McGILL's monthly economic magazine, "The Alarm Clock" will make its seasonal bow this morning upon the news stands and at the various college entrances. When it is expected that the distributors will register an early "sell out" with copies changing hands at ten cents apiece.

The first edition of "The Alarm Clock" for this year contains a review of the National Recovery Administration movement in the United States; under the title "N.R.A.—An Appraisal." The article is by Fred V. Stone, a Graduate Student in Economics. In addition to this feature, the "Future of Engineering" is discussed by J. A. Coote; there is a short story, the "C.C.F." receives its share of limelight; and there are many other features of interest to students.

Timely Topics Included
This initial number of the 1933-34 series is a distinct improvement upon last year's edition, according to the editorial staff. It is their intention to maintain the size of "The Alarm Clock" at twelve pages. Each issue will contain the editorial column, which is entitled "More Optum." This will be composed of opinions of various well-known religious leaders on the present economic system. The article on the future of engineering is the first of a series, and will be followed each month by a similar treatment of the leading professions.

This first issue last year was sold out, by noon, and a total of 1500 copies changed hands. The same support was received by the second edition. A still larger sale is expected this year as the circulation of "The Alarm Clock" has been increased to include the leading news stands of the city. Students who fail to get a copy in the university may obtain one at Poole's Montreal Book Room, Wolfe's, and some thirty news depots throughout the city.

Plans are already under way for the December number. "The Alarm Clock" offers a chance for students to express their views and develop literary ability. Contributors are given liberty as to ideas, but the articles must contain good English. Those desiring to have their efforts published in the December issue may send them to the Editor-in-Chief of "The Alarm Clock" at 495 Prince Arthur Street.

Arrangements may still be made with the business manager, Bert Moellmann, to have subscriptions mailed to any out-of-town address desired. These should be arranged at once. This is the last chance for students to obtain their copies at the gate, and subscriptions should be arranged immediately in order that students may not miss any or "The Alarm Clock" features.

I.O.D.E. Scholarship

McGill students will be interested to learn that the I.O.D.E. Scholarship has been awarded to Mr. Hamilton Heaton, graduate of Law of the University of Montreal. The holder of this scholarship for 1932-33 was Mr. Robert I. C. Picard, former News Editor of the McGill Daily.

Masonic Club Hear Students To Debate A. Wilborne Tonight

"Freemasonry" Topic Of Lecture In Union Grill

The first meeting of the McGill University Masonic Club will be held in the Union Grill Room this evening from six to eight o'clock. Supper will be served, and will be followed by a short business meeting. The speaker will be the Rt. Wor. Brother A. J. B. Wilborne, who is a well known lecturer on Masonry in Montreal. His subject will be "The Origin and Development of Freemasonry."

One of the chief aims of the Club is to bring the new Masons at McGill into contact with their fellow members. A cordial invitation is therefore extended to all Masons at McGill, students, staff and employees, to attend this meeting, and especially the new members.

Students To Debate Lachlan Gibb Cup Contested Tonight

The opening debate of this year for the Lachlan Gibb Cup will be held this evening in the Convocation Hall of the Diocesan College, at eight o'clock. This Cup is awarded annually to the best speaker of the College, the competition taking the form of a series of debates, followed by a final speaking contest for those who have been adjudged best in their respective debates. The subject to be discussed tonight is: "Resolved that Canada adopt a National Recovery Act," and the speakers are G. R. Garnham and J. O. Peacock, upholding the resolution and J. C. Kirby and R. G. Stewart opposing it.

The judges are: the Reverend Russell F. Brown, Professor J. J. Culliton, and Miss Barbara Ulrichson.

All students are invited to be present.

A Good Finish

THE TWELFTH ANNUAL APPEAL of the Federated Charities has closed with complete results somewhat lower than was estimated. Nevertheless with a few exceptions the contributions of last year were exceeded in all faculties. Four faculties or schools had the honour of exceeding even the estimate for this year. In all, considering the conditions and the times, we consider that McGill has given a creditable performance, and has contributed her fair share of the funds which are going towards the aid and succoring of the poor and the sick this coming winter.

A great deal of this success is due to the work and untiring efforts of the men and women who were conducting the campaign throughout the University. It denotes efficient management and considerable sacrifice on the part of our welfare workers. Such results would have been impossible were it not for the complete and concerted canvassing of the student body.

Yet the greater proportion of the subscriptions which go to the Federated Charities do not come from the student body. They come from the staff of the University. This must not be forgotten. Now that the campaign is over we sincerely hope that the funds obtained will be sufficient for the needs of the unfortunate of this city.

We again congratulate the officials of the campaign for the excellent work which they have done, and which is made manifest by their achievements.

Leaving The Ship

IT HAS COME to our notice that certain members of the intermediate teams have failed to attend practices during the past few days. In fact the intermediate team is threatened with extinction if some support is not given. Though we are not supplied with the reasons for such lack of interest, nevertheless there is no possible reason why McGill men should be accused of failing in the matter of supporting their team. During the past few days the practices have been sparsely attended, and some question has been raised as to whether McGill will be able to field a team for the intermediate combat next Saturday.

This is a deplorable state of affairs, and it would appear to us that the charges of the Graduates' Society might even be justified. We hope not. We would therefore appeal to those concerned, and to the managers and players of the Interfaculty League, among whom no doubt is some fine material, to give the intermediate team their full support.

Twelve-To-One-Odds

THE Get-Rich-Quick fallacy recently received a death blow when a well-known mathematical authority figured out that the odds were 12 to 1 against the average individual who is trying to make a "killing" on the stock market.

That this warning to keep away from speculating on the stock market is sound advice at any time cannot be denied, although many observers will be surprised that the professor's computations give the small fry as much of a chance as they do.

Still it is a fairly safe bet that the professor's admonishments will not be widely heeded, even though they are based on mathematics and the experiences of countless victims who allowed themselves to be sacrificed on the altars of a speculative behemoth.

Back at the time of wild stock gambling a few years ago, almost everybody was in the market and many paper fortunes were made. When the collapse came, thousands upon thousands were completely wiped out. "Never again" they vociferously cried, and meant it—then. But the recent boom saw the amateurs plunging again. Memories of a few years ago yielded to the lure of quick and easy money. Curiously there seems to be no cure for the optimism of the individual who is ready enough to concede that stock gambling is bad business, but who continues to speculate in the hope that he will not be reckoned among the hapless dozen who get trimmed and who are known to the financial world as "lambs".

COSMO-POLITANA

By Observer

MAXIM LITVINOFF, Russian diplomat, is definitely on his way to Washington to confer with Roosevelt on the matter of the recognition of the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics by the United States. Little doubt as to the eventual outcome of this conference remains in the minds of foreign observers, now that Litvinoff's passport has a diplomatic visa, entitling him to that immunity universally extended to the diplomatic corps of the recognized nations. It is the mere formality at Washington that now remains.

While we have previously considered in this column the stimulus behind the whole matter, recent events cast new light on this matter of recognition. Within the last week, Japan has retired from that part of China which lies south of the Great Wall, and has released territory which had been bought dearly with life and money. Apparent reasons for this move are not difficult to find. First, the naive suggestion that Japan desires to act the magnanimous victor with China, that Japan wishes to enlist the sympathies of the Republic in a pan-Oriental scheme to make the East safe for the yellow man. It is doubtful whether even the disunited country and nation that is China, will appreciate this token of good-will within only two years of seeing a large slice of her territory carved out by her island neighbour. Another suggestion has been advanced that this withdrawal of troops from the zone in question is a direct result of economy. Again, this excuse is not plausible. Money cannot be a factor in this case.

What probably is the real reason behind the whole move, however, is that that Japan is trying to consolidate her position in Manchukuo, and is attempting to reinforce her garrisons in the northern sections of the new puppet state. Reasons for such a move are abundant.

Formerly, the only theoretical enemy in the Pacific has been the United States. There is no question as to the flag the Philippine Islands will fly when the United States becomes bold enough to leave the islands. The Caroline Islands already belong to Japan through recent diplomatic conquest from the League of Nations. In this way, Japan will dominate the entire succession of islands from the Japanese archipelago to within striking distance of Singapore. She will be supreme in the eastern Pacific Ocean, with nobody to dispute her naval strength in those waters.

This is the picture that can be painted without allowing for the power of Russia in Siberia. As long as the world treats Russia as the black sheep of the family of nations, as long as the powers persist in their efforts to demean the Soviets, as long as civilization disparages the work of the Soviets, Japan will parade the Pacific in full war plumage.

I believe that it is part of the United States' foreign policy to take the advantage offered of having a powerful enemy sulking near Japan's back door. With American sponsorship, Russia will be more acceptable to the rest of the world and where she was formerly tolerated, she will now receive a hearty welcome. American non-recognition has formerly gone a long way towards encouraging the world to snub the Soviets.

We should not come to the conclusion that these actions necessarily mean that the United States is looking forward to war with Japan and wants to have an ally in Asia; rather must we say that the presence of a strong supporting government near Japan will tend towards reducing the jingo attitude in that Eastern Empire, especially with regards to the United States.

Both Russia and the United States are on common ground as regards to fearing the actions of Japan. Not a week passes but that some protest is lodged in Tokio by the Russian envoy, either with regards to the activity of Japanese troops on Manchukuo's Siberian frontier, or about the rife problem of the Russian-owned Chinese Eastern Railway running through the new puppet state. This tension is constantly growing tighter and tighter. Only yesterday the premier of the Soviets in a speech in Moscow declared that Russia will always be ready to protect her frontiers. There is little question but that Japan was inferred in the speech.

The United States too has been having her troubles with Japan. Not officially, but rather by insinuation and seemingly slight acts has this been shown. The United States last year moved the major portion of her Atlantic fleet into the Pacific, and left the flotillas there for reasons of economy. Japan has been having her manoeuvres, both naval and military, against mythical enemies which strangely enough seemed to come out of the Pacific Ocean.

On the whole, Russia's new influence in the Pacific will be on the side of peace. Japan may at some future time be ready to measure arms with the United States, but she will have to think twice before starting any activity with an American ally ready to jump on her back. On the other hand, it is very doubtful whether the United States would be ready to pick a quarrel with Japan, inasmuch as she is about ready to relinquish her possessions in the Oriental waters. Russia has no designs at the present time on any part of the old China; her interests lie elsewhere. All in all, it appears that the only possible provocation in the Orient is Japan, whose imperial ambitions and the necessity of territorial expansion to cope with her imminent over-population, makes her cast envious glance on the Philippines and possibly Australia. With the co-operation of a powerful and friendly Russia the whole threat appears to be postponed indefinitely.

REVIEWS

"Private Lives" By Noel Coward
CAST

Amanda Prynn Madge Kennedy
Victor Prynn, her husband Leslie Denison
Sibyl Chase Catherine Standing
Eliot Chase, her husband Alan Marshall

FAMILIARITY is generally supposed to breed contempt, but Mr. Coward's clever little play was sufficiently entertaining. The play itself offers excellent opportunities, one might say that there are at least two situations that are fool-proof; the curtain to the second act, and the breakfast-table scene in the third, even though the latter compares unfavourably with the similar scene in the final act of "The Last of Mrs. Cheney".

There is little to say about the play as a play. Mr. Coward's efforts depend almost entirely upon dialogue, or should we say dialect? Therefore the acting is exceedingly important. As far as the performance last night is concerned, it seems a pity that Miss Kennedy has succumbed to the Mae West drawl. The rest of the cast were adequate.

The theme of the play is familiar enough. The double honey-moon and a series of coincidences provide a typical Noel Coward opening scene for a bright modern treatment of the family quarrel, continuous throughout three acts, rising to a physical climax in the finale of the second act. The third act, Coward at his best, bristling with wit and cynicism in the best modern manner, reminds one of T. S. Eliot's.

This is the way the world ends,
This is the way the world ends,
This is the way the world ends,
Not with a bang but a whimper.

MICROMANIA

To those who have regarded the Commission's Station CROM as a black cloud upon the local horizon, I suggest that the silver lining in this case reveals itself in the form of new NBC programs to be carried by CFCF, which is now carrying fewer CRO features. Probably the most famous of the programs on the new schedule will be Paul Whiteman's Gala Program, Tuesdays at five (NBC-CFCF). This is in addition to the Whiteman Thursday night variety program.

In addition to the symphony program Sundays at 12.30, Radio City will take the air Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 10.45 (NBC-CFCF). And on Monday and Thursday at 11.30 (NBC-CFCF), the Hollywood Tattler takes the air. Fans of Phil Cook, the man with six voices, will welcome him back Tuesday at four (NBC-CFCF). These changes are scheduled to go into effect the week of November 12.

Last Tuesday at 5.10, CFCF offered a program that will soon be taken up by a sponsor, if the commercial people are out for good features. Arlene Jackson, as the Daughter of the Regiment, showed that she is not merely an imitator of Jeannie Lang, a crime of which she has been accused, but really an artist in her own right. She has a voice worth listening to, and does not need to depend upon giggles for effect — which is more than La Lang can say. A good chorus and band in the background makes hers one of the most pleasant afternoon programs on the air.

Sunday night's 7 Star Revue (WABC-9) brought forth the wisest words yet uttered by a radio comedian. Julius Tannen, the last surviving comedian on the air, in a strong declamation effectively ridiculed old jokes, over-played songs, and the accompanying ills of radio variety shows. As Tannen's humour is the most original of any on the air, his criticism was quite justified, and quite timely.

Six members of the Public Affairs Institute Committee on International Broadcasting will speak on the political, social, and financial relations of the United States to various European nations in a series of trans-Atlantic broadcasts over the CBS starting next Sunday. The series will be headed by Lord Lothian from London, to be followed by speakers from Norway, France, Switzerland, Holland and Hungary.

Albert Spalding, violinist of the Castoria program, is the son of A. G. Spalding of sporting goods fame. (CKAC, Wed. 8.30) — Next Sunday's Philharmonic-Symphony program will be entirely Tchaikovsky. — Both CBS and NBC have scheduled special programs for Armistice Day (Sat. 11 a.m.) — Kate Smith is to leave the air soon to go on a vaudeville tour. — Jack Denny is heard over CFCF Fridays at 11.30 p.m.

The Second Parade of Champions will start its six day march next Saturday with Kate Smith, following daily with Geo. Gershwin, Helen Morgan, Harry Richman, Morton Downey, the whole troupe ending up on the following Thursday in a gala program. The orchestras to be used include Jack Miller's, William Daly's, Vincent Lopez', Willard Robison's, and Jacques Renard's. Tune in WABC.

Next Sunday at 2.30, CROM will present an international program featuring H. R. H. the Prince of Wales. — Eddie Duchin is on CKAC Wednesday nights at 12.30. — Ramsay MacDonald will be heard on NBC and CBS (and the local stations) Thursday at 4.15 — And listen to some of the CRO programs; several good ones are being sent out.

Editor,
McGill Daily,
Dear Sir:—

Inasmuch as the railways conceded an excursion rate from Toronto to Montreal over the week-end of October 7 enabling Varsity students to witness the game of that date at Molsen Stadium, I consider that it would be most opportune on their part to grant a similar rate from this city to Toronto for the week-end of November 11th in order that McGill supporters might have an opportunity of attending the most important game of the season in the Queen City.

In writing this, I am assured that I am expressing the opinion of a large number of the student body desirous of making this trip as I have heard complaints on many sides.

Yours truly,
E. FLURIBUS UNUM.

Crowding

The Editor,
McGill Daily:
Dear Sir:—

It is with astonishment that we notice the editorial on 'Crowding' of last Thursday. The editorial states 'It has been unpleasantly obvious of late that the lobby of the Arts Building is overcrowded to an extent far greater than in former years.' Let us seek the root of this evil.

In the past the student with little to do between lectures retired to the 'Reading Room' opposite the Dean's office, where he chatted or read the periodicals. Today, Mr. Editor, where is that 'Reading Room'? It is still there. Yes. But under the terrifying name of the 'Carnegie Collection'. The old room has been changed, so have the rules. No longer is it possible to drift in for the odd quarter hour to pass the time, for the rules state that the library is to be used for reading library books only, and conversation is forbidden.

This is not a condemnation of the new Library, far from it; the new Library is welcomed to the Campus. It fills a definite need; but it also displaces a very necessary reading room.

The editorial goes on to say 'There is plenty of room for the freshmen downstairs.' We presume this means in the smoking room. Certainly this is a fine place for smoking and chatting, but how about those who wish to chat and do not care to smoke? Moreover the smoking room is now overcrowded at certain hours of the day. The whole question boils down to the simple statement made by countless scores upon their return this fall: "What the Hell!—No Reading Room."

(Continued from Page One) illustrating these points, that he had met with in his own experience. These examples showed that great care should be taken against leaving any loophole for grounds for legal action. The speaker then opened the meeting for questions and an interesting discussion followed in which Dr. de Belle explained a number of points raised by the students. A very hearty vote of thanks was tendered Dr. de Belle for his interesting and instructive address. The meeting was then adjourned for refreshments.

Dance Committee
In the absence of the President, the Vice-President was in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. An election for Chairman of the Dance Committee was made necessary by the resignation of Stewart. Foote was unanimously elected to fill his place. A case report was then presented and a general discussion followed, several diagnoses being submitted.

Red Hockey Team Ready For Opening

Bobby Bell's Six Will Meet Verduin Tomorrow Night

ROYALS AND CANUCKS CLASH IN FIRST GAME

BOBBY BELL ran his red sextet through a fast session yesterday at the Forum in preparation for the opening of the Senior Group schedule tomorrow night. Only one more work-out remains for the red-shirts before the season opens and yesterday they were tearing around in great style, intent on familiarizing themselves with the possibilities of the new rules which should boost a lot of scoring averages this year. Kenny Farmer likes the new code and figures that he will be able to leave his chief rival Jack McGill well behind before the season is very old.

The players were plying the hickory and using their bodies in earnest yesterday for the first time to date. No favoritism was shown by the hard hitting defencemen as they jumped into everyone who came their way while even the front rank was handing it out with a will that bodes ill for the rest of the teams in Ken Stewart's loop.

The "Whiz" Looks Good

Gordie Melkiejohn is in "excellent" playing condition following his successful track and field season and looks even better than last year when he made a big impression on McGill fans. His hard body checks and his ability to cover ground in a hurry make him one of the best rear-guards in the loop this year. In addition he still packs the shot that blistered the boards on numerous occasions last winter.

Hollie McHugh is back to his old form in the cage. The curly haired Meds student was kicking them out from all angles in yesterday's practice. Allan Hall, the big Westerner, is getting into playing condition but has not really been at the top of his form yet. He is a capable blocker and should go well with Melkiejohn on the back division.

"Shag" Still Engaged

Frank Shaughnessy has not yet made his appearance but once he is through racking up much needed points for his Dad's football team he will find his skates ready for use at the Forum. Coach Bell looks to have a real defence lined up once he gets young "Shag" on the ice.

Nels Crutchfield is back at his old champing ground, centre ice and the husky Shawinigan speed merchant is giving the railbirds plenty to talk about in practice. "Crutchy" is one of the smoothest performers in local amateur circles and will bear a lot of watching if he is to be held in check. His old side-kick Jack McGill is another who is stepping along and he promises that he won't be far from the top rung of the goal-getting records. He is courting the boards in fine style and has his powerful and accurate shot all groomed for action, ready to break up more games in his own inimitable manner.

"Farquie," Farmer, Ready

Hughie Farquharson, working at centre with Farmer and Robertson flanking him is skating with all his former ease and making plays with all his former skill. "Farquie's" last year with McGill looks like a real good one. Farmer, the pine-sized wonder from Ste. Anne's, is going to be just as much of a bother to opposing goal-tenders as he ever was and that means plenty, judging from his work so far. The new code will make his tactics even more effective than previously.

Tommy Robertson is patrolling his starboard lane on the second line pretty effectively while Paul Elle, the former U. of M. star is being groomed to work with Crutchfield and McGill on the first trio.

Verduin provide the opposition tomorrow night in the second game of the scheduled double bill with Royals and Canadians opening the festivities. Little is known of the Verduin entry as yet but they should be able to ice a pretty fair aggregation.

Ted Reeve Accepts

Will Coach Queen's Rugby Squad Again In 1934

Kingston, Nov. 6. — Ted Reeve, coach of Queen's senior football team, has been offered the position of coach for 1934 and has accepted, it was announced today by A. McGinnis, chairman of the athletic board of control. Reeve's team has made a surprisingly fine showing in the Inter-collegiate Union, winning three and losing three to tie for the lead with McGill and University of Toronto.

McGinnis said members of the board were very well pleased with Reeve's work this season and were extremely anxious to have him return for next season.

Interfaculty Soccer

There will be a game between Arts and Commerce on Wednesday at 4 p.m. on the upper field. Will the following please turn out:

Arts—Johnson, Laing, Simpson, Hodgson, Luxton, Wilson, Poch, Garber, Morgan, Struthern, Hobbie.

Commerce—Jones, Denton, Lowe, Robertson and all others interested.

Intermediate Rugby Squad Unable To Field Full Line-Up

McGill May Default To Westward In League Game Saturday

PLAYERS CUT DRILLS

MCGILL'S problems in the Q.R.F.U. struggle, which at first were confined to the minor issue of winning a game, now assume a wider scope, for twelve good men and true have to be found who are willing to bear the colours on the field against Westward Saturday. Seemingly dismayed by the four straight reverses already received at the hands of rival teams, members of the squad have failed to report for duty during the past week and are apparently content to declare the season closed.

However, Major Forbes has been forcibly reminded by the Q.R.F.U. authorities that the McGill squad undertook to fill certain obligations when their franchise for league play was accepted and defaulting games is certainly not the best method of fulfilling them. Westward are more than interested in the palaver of McGill's football solons as they are at present operating under a heavy deficit and are counting on the receipts of their game with the Redmen to pull them out of the red.

Railroaders Interested Too

C. N. R. are casting more than a wary eye on the possibility of a Westward defeat at the hands of an ambitious Red squad, providing such a game takes place. The Railroaders were on the outside looking in at a pace-making Maroon crew as two early defeats practically forced them out of the running but they came into the picture once more on Saturday when they defeated the Royal Avenue team in one of the tightest and hardest-fought games of the season, the final result showing them just ahead at 2-1.

Ralph St. Germain, who is coaching the intermediates since George McTeer left for Ottawa on business recently, is more than willing to put a contending team on the field but insists that they at least appear for practices during all of this week so that they can show some semblance of form by Saturday. McGill, after a bad start, were improving right along until the change in coaches brought an expected disruption in their play, but, although they were the victims of four rather unmerciful licks they always managed to provide rather an interesting display and with their open style of football proved an attraction in the league.

All Players Wanted

Prominent stars in the interfaculty league and all intermediate players who have at some time been in the game will be treated like prodigal sons on their appearance at the Stadium, and, by Saturday, with at least three and possibly four practices, they should be able to put up the hard-driving and care-free game which has so far been the characteristic of the Q.R.F.U. squad. Should Westward win, a West-end crowd will acclaim a smart championship aggregation; should they lose, a Point St. Charles crowd will chortle at seeing their prides the C.N.R. squad, being given the opportunity of once more entangling with the traditional enemy. In either case the Redmen have the feelings of a goody section of the city at their disposal to do with as they please.

Every man who has an eligibility slip for Q.R.F.U. play is asked either to report for practice at the Stadium or to explain to Manager Herring his reasons for not being able to play. Any interfaculty player who is interested in appearing against Westward is urged to state his intentions immediately so that he can obtain an eligibility slip in time for the game.

SPORTS NOTICES

Sports Notices must be in by 3:30 p.m. the night previous to publication and must be dated and signed.

BASKETBALL

Basketball practices will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at 5:00 p.m. at the Montreal High School gym on University Street. Bring your own equipment.

GYM CLASS

Gym practice hours have been announced as Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 5 o'clock in the Montreal High Gym. Coach Hay Finlay will be in charge and newcomers are invited to turn out.

All men unable to play on Saturday are asked to report to Manager Herring as soon as possible. All others are re-

Boxing—The Manly Art

BOXING is a game that every man should know about. It not only teaches him self-control but helps him to attain real confidence in himself.

It may sound very strange, but is true in every respect that the more a man knows about the "Art" of boxing, the less will he look for trouble—because it teaches him to keep out of fights. I refer to would-be fights, brawls and the like. When a man knows "how" to hit, "where" to hit, and "when" to hit, he will always look before he leaps—think first of all of his hands—"how" to hold them, and position in which to strike. Next, "where" the most vital spot is located—for instance, a full right hook to the jaw would render the average man temporarily unconscious and yet do no damage to the hitter's hand, providing of course that your right hand is so placed that you avoid any possible injury, or strain, on contact.

On the other hand, a straight right better known as a right cross to the chin with the hands not properly set nor held would result, in all probability, in a broken or dislocated thumb. Therefore, in order to deliver the blow giving the quickest results for the "K.O." or knockout, a Hook, with either left or right would be far more potent and have quicker-dealing effects, than a straight punch to the chin, even if landed properly to the side of the jaw. The art of hitting properly will be dealt with in later chapters, where each blow will be treated in full detail.

When to Hit

The other very important point is when to hit. If, in an emergency, you are caught unawares and are called upon for immediate action and quick thought, a pugnacious adversary being just in the act of unloosing a wild haymaker, let drive a stiff right cross to the chin—your surprised opponent being, in all likelihood, totally unprepared for such a move.

These three points in boxing, "When, Where and How to Hit," are equally important as the three "C's" of the manly art, "Calm, Cool and Collected" and the game does teach just that, the three vital points.

Boxing is without a doubt, just about the best form of exercise a man could wish for, providing, of course, that it is done systematically. The work should be carefully planned and should always be carried out at the same time if possible. To start with, three rounds of shadow boxing of three minutes each with a minute off between rounds for rest. Then two three-minute periods of floor callisthenics and finally two rounds of actual boxing, against an opponent of equal merit as yourself. Providing you have not loafed on the job you should be well-enough satisfied, if not, try one more round of boxing but limit it to body blows, which should be kept well above the belt.

Best Exercise Known

A better physical conditioner than this form of exercise is hard to find, for it is far more tuned to body-building than apparatus work, weight-lifting or bar-bells, which tend to tie up the muscle development, leading to the condition known as muscle-bound. As a method of reducing weight, boxing callisthenics are just about the best known. Special attention will also be devoted to this subject later.

Because of its important contribution to health, body-conditioning and character-building, boxing is taught in practically every college on the continent. There are few, if any, instructive books on the manly art and the coming chapters, devoted entirely to the execution of each individual blow, should be of benefit to the novice. Next week's chapter will be on the No. 1 Blow, the straight left to the head.

Basketball Squads Pass Under Knife

Both Teams Trimmed Down As Eliminations Are Held

BASKETBALL practices for both the City League team and the Inter-collegiate squad have now been under way for over a week. A large number of new men are attending assiduously, as well as all the old-timers who are not still engaged at football. Among the veterans who turned out, Don Small and Gerry Halpenny put in their first appearance on the floor last night. Don has kept in condition running up and down the grandstand steps as head of the Scarlet Key. Young, Krukowski, and McMorran are expected out as soon as their football activities cease.

Coach Van Wagner has not arranged any local exhibition games to date, although the Intercollegiate are due to travel to Burlington before Christmas for their annual tussle with University of Vermont.

The pruning knife came into use last night when "Van" cut his squads by several men. The teams are now reduced to about twenty-five men. Although the forward line of last year's first team is practically intact, the defence has vanished through graduation; so experienced guards are in demand. On the whole, chances for a banner year in basketball seem bright, though it is hardly time yet to indulge in definite predictions.

mind that practices are held daily at the Molson Stadium.

FENCERS

Equipment was given out to all fencers who were on hand yesterday. Those who still intend to turn out and have not yet obtained their equipment are asked to report at 5 o'clock tomorrow.

BOXING

The regular boxing practice will be held today at 5 o'clock in the High School gym.

Nature Of Physical Mechanism Treated

Dr. Watson Gives Explanation Of Causality In Talk

The nature of mechanism was the topic of an address by Dr. W. H. Watson, President of the Physical Society, on Friday, November third. Opening his talk with a short description of the machine, its functions and structure with regard to mechanism, the speaker next showed that mechanism was more than our everyday conception of machines. This was done with a simple electrical device which apparently defied gravity.

Clark Maxwell's theory and the connection between equations and mechanisms were next explained. The speaker taking a deeper trend, attempted to explain causality. He maintained that in spite of the fact that the sun rose yesterday and today, there is the possibility that it might not rise tomorrow. Bringing up the

COACHLIGHTDRAWS UP BALANCED CARD FOR WEEKLY FIGHTS

Fourteen Boxers Show Wares In Ballroom Tomorrow Night

COACH BERT LIGHT, having accustomed several of his boxing novices to ring competition at last Tuesday's fights, is now promoting a more ambitious program and tomorrow night presents no less than fourteen of his fighters in a card of seven bouts. In addition Coach Light himself will box a three-round exhibition against some opponent skill to be selected.

The feature, bout of a well-balanced card has Lionel Swift, the college champion of 145 pounds, matched up against Bob Quinn of Leland Stanford University. Quinn is slated to be the intercollegiate coast champion at his weight and a battle worthy of champions should result. Swift is a willing mixer, with a good hard punch and is one of the gamest boxers ever to don the red tights, and should provide an interesting exhibition against his experienced opponent.

Four Middleweights

Johnny Black, who saw much service in Light's fights last year, stacks up against a newcomer in Louis Vacek and will have at stake his chances of earning a regular berth on the squad this year as Corbet, the Red 155-lb representative, is no longer fighting. Two other challengers for the vacant post are also putting in a bid and at the same time attempt to outdo the other when Johnston and Stevenson clash.

The 125-lb division which is also open due to the absence of Berkowitz, Ikwieck has four candidates who will all try to gain a victory and a strong, early impression. Yancey is the only one of the four to have fought at McGill before but meet a good match in Maneuro.

The bouts:
125-lbs.—Paron vs. Swalsky.
Yancey vs. Maneuro.
135-lbs.—Hollingsworth vs. Wolfrey.
145-lbs.—Swift vs. Quinn.
MacDonald vs. Elie.
155-lbs.—Black vs. Vacek.
Johnston vs. Stevenson.
Exhibition—Bert Light vs. A. N. Other.

question of time, it was shown that it can be compared to a person in an aeroplane who can see behind, underneath, and ahead. This can favourably be compared to the past, present and future; however, it is only special time and has no relation to our conception of time.

In summing up his lecture, Dr. Watson stated that the mechanism of natural laws are connected with calculations. Mechanism is merely the mechanism of thought as seen by human beings.

No Serious Injuries To Hammer Redmen In Toronto

STOCKWELL WILL BE READY FOR SATURDAY

COACH SHAUGHNESSY'S footballers took a day off yesterday, with only one or two of the players donning their togs for a light limbering up. The majority were content to rest up while several of the more seriously damaged were taken care of by Harry Grimes, who spent the late afternoon and evening getting his patients rid of the aches and bruises that they acquired on Saturday.

Frank Shaughnessy Sr. failed to put in an appearance at the Field House as he himself was suffering from a cold. He will be on hand this afternoon however, to start things humming for the Varsity trip.

No Serious Injuries

Don Young came through the struggle in good shape and will be all ready for the jaunt to the Queen City. Walter Stockwell, the most seriously injured of the Redmen suffered a badly bruised ankle but expects to be on hand this afternoon and will certainly be fit by Saturday. "Slip" Gilbert was out loosening up under the floodlights, fully recovered from the bad-jolt he received at the start of the Queen's game.

All eyes will be focused on the football scoreboards this weekend. The Big Four will come in for a large part of the attention, naturally, but Intercollegiate fans will have plenty to keep them guessing as the Queen's Western and McGill-Varsity struggles progress. McGill can win the championship by downing Warren Stevens' squad, provided that the Mustangs do likewise to the Kingstons. Both games promise the utmost in excitement with three of the four teams engaged on the threshold of a championship.

Harrier Crown At Stake On Saturday

Strong Squad Of Runners Carry McGill Title Hopes

MCGILL'S claim to the Harrier Championship on Saturday will be vested in Frankton, captain of the team, Goode, Crowley, Peck and Campbell. In Clarrie Frankton, M.A.A.A. runner of note, McGill has one of the best long-distance runners in Eastern Canada. Jeff Goode, former Cambridge captain, has led the runners home in the last two meets. He won Saturday's trial race in the record-breaking time of 30 mins. 45 seconds. Peck, also of last year's team, should have something to say in the final placing. The Aggie is a former Albertan and Western College champion. Crowley, a newcomer, has given several good performances to date. Frank Campbell, while new to the harrier game, is well-known for his ski-running feats.

Gruelling Course

On Saturday the runners will start with a half lap at the Stadium; then up Pine to the top of Peel, where they take to the mountain road. On reaching the Park Slide, they follow the bridge path down to Park Avenue, then turn back to the Stadium to cover one lap before reaching the finish line.

This gruelling course, which is about 5.6 miles long, will test the endurance of the runners to the fullest extent. McGill are expecting stiff opposition this year from Varsity, while R.M.C. and Ontario Aggies will have a good representation.

McGill will defend their championship in the Dunlop Trophy race on November 18th, starting from North Branch "Y." The Redmen have permanent possession of the trophy, having won it the past three years, and Clarrie Frankton, who is especially suited to road racing, holds the race record.

Graduate Society Meeting

The first of a series of monthly meetings, arranged by the executive council of the Graduate Students' Society, will be held this evening at 8:30 p.m. at the Union with Honorary President, Dean Eve, scheduled to address the assembly. An interesting program, including refreshments, will be served.

COACH SHAUGHNESSY RECOVERS FROM COLD

Frank J. Shaughnessy, coach of McGill's senior football team, which is staging a glorious fight to win the intercollegiate title and which is at present in a first-place tie with Queen's and Toronto, celebrated the victory of his men in somewhat grim fashion, a severe cold keeping him firmly ensconced in his bed for the past two days. However, the veteran mentor, allowing himself little time for complete recuperation, insists on being back on the job and will handle the squad at the regular practice today.

The Redmen with three straight victories already to their credit are pointing to their final game of the season, that against Varsity next Saturday in which their fate will finally be decided. The victor in this crucial contest will doubtless hook-up with Queen's in a post-season playoff, as the Tricolour are expected to defeat West-ern.

BADMINTON ACTIVITIES DISCUSSED BY CLUBS

The long tennis season having finally come to an end, proponents of the racket game are now turning their attention to indoor activities and badminton, which is somewhat akin to tennis, is undoubtedly the first choice. Men students are making tentative plans towards obtaining suitable quarters at some local club, the sole barrier being a sufficiently large turnout.

The M.W.S.A.A. Badminton Club, which caters to women students, after some debate has started its season and at present boasts a membership of forty-one. Elected members must play at least once a week, while others will get a chance to play later on in the year. The playing hours have been announced as Tuesday, 4-6 and 7-10; and Wednesday, 7-10. The list of members is on the notice-board in the R.V.C. and in the common-room in the Arts Building. The first tea will be held sometime next week.

Co-operation Eases Situation

How the Canadian Pacific Railway Company as a large property owner allowed its tenants to catch up on their arrears of rent and also earn some much needed cash is told by J. F. Hendry, Toronto, real estate agent there for the company.

"The Canadian Pacific," said Mr. Hendry, "is owner of eighty six dwelling houses on Marlborough Avenue paralleling the tracks near North Toronto station. Many of tenants were in arrears on their rents despite every possible effort on their part to make ends meet. The majority, too, were tenants of long standing. We had a mutual get-together and decided that the unemployed tenants would paint all the eighty six houses under the supervision of one of their own number as foreman. The company supplied all the material, insured the men under the Workmen's Compensation Act, and the work was started. The results are most gratifying for all concerned. The unemployed tenants have seen their arrears of rent gradually erased from the ledger, and the property has been made spick and span at a reasonable cost because there was no idling on the job and everyone worked their hardest. In fact the scheme went along so smoothly that it was decided that all the labour would not be credited on the rent ledger but that each man would draw a percentage in cash to help keep his family and himself going.

Young people are grand and this generation is straight thinking and liberty loving, Tibbett declared. "I think they will accomplish fine things, and the people on your own campus—so eager, alert, so enthusiastic and full of fun. In some of the eastern colleges students are told that enthusiasm shows bad taste and lack of poise. What tommyrot!"

College Not Necessary

The terms "college" and "education" are not synonymous, he said. "You can meet some of the worst dumbbells who are college graduates and you can also meet very learned men who have never entered college portals."

Tibbett attended the Manual Arts Junior college in Los Angeles and has received an honorary degree from the University of Southern California.

"A college education is certainly not a requirement in every profession. Of course it helps but in my work I do not think it necessary or applicable because it gives the young artist such a late start. The average college graduate is about 22 or 23 and then must apprentice himself for several years. At 25 a singer should have his career well begun."

Sings To Little Michael

Tibbett, just back from the war and married, started his profession of singing and acting at 21. By the time he was 23, he had established himself as a well known artist, presenting plays and concerts in Los Angeles.

Tibbett's favorite song is "The Glory Road"; his favorite sport, swimming; and his favorite pastime, singing to his two-months old son. His ambition is to see little Michael grow up to be a famous artist.

One should choose his life work carefully, Tibbett thinks, but once he decides on a profession, he should put his whole self into it. This applies especially to artists, dealers in emotions. If people are bored in their work, "they are confessing their own weakness, for only the boring are bored," he said.

Edward Lindblom, Turlock — I came to college to round out a general education. The more a person knows, the more he's interested in. This goes to make a more interesting and useful life.

Fred Williams, Olathe, Colorado — To make contacts and to get a better education.

Henry Tan, San Francisco — To get legal training that I may help the Japanese people of California.

Edgar Mercy, Yakima, Washington — To find my career.

Though many who were asked showed familiar female reticence, a group of new campus women, latest members of the "800," showed willingness to state why they thought the woman's place is in the university instead of in the home.

Jack Ward, San Diego — I came to the University to learn the profession of electrical engineering.

Sid Forman, Watts — Due to the changes in living conditions, a fellow must have a college education to succeed to the highest achievements.

Wolf And Big Bad Pig Given Permanent Home

A widespread report has reached our ears, which, incredible as it sounds, yet seems to be based on undeniable fact. It is rumored that McGill intends to add one more to its many time-honoured institutions — a menagerie.

This brilliant idea was, we understand, engendered by the endearing skit presented by the Band at half-time on Saturday. Regret was heard expressed on all sides that those present had not thought to bring along their young brothers and sisters. It was felt that they would undoubtedly have appreciated fully this glorious effort on the part of the musicians.

Those interested will be glad to learn that the menagerie is flourishing. That is, for so young an institution. So far it consists of one b.b. bad wolf, and three little pigs, aside from the other creatures usually seen at the games, but who, for obvious reasons, are not included in the present census.

When interviewed, the Band denied that any special effort had been involved in producing their skit. In fact they modestly characterized it as "child's play." All contributions to the movement will be eagerly welcomed.

dents who knew him before coming. As this is the commencement of the Club's activities for the 1933 season it is hoped that all the Newfoundland students at McGill will endeavor to be present. A special invitation is extended to those attending McGill for the first time.

RED AND WHITE REVUE
Will all those interested in writing skits, or helping with the book of this year's Red and White Revue, please meet the producer in the Revue office in the Union this afternoon or tomorrow between four and five o'clock. (28)

ARTS '37
There will be a class meeting after English II in Moyses Hall at 1:00 today.

SOCIETE FRANCAISE WELCOMES FRESHETTES

The first meeting of La Societe Francaise will take place on November 9. This meeting will take the form of a competition of story-telling. These stories are to be from 2 to 5 minutes long, and may be humorous, gruesome, weird, or what have you? It is not necessary to speak French fluently, or to possess the powers of an orator. Lists are posted in the common room of the Arts Building, and in R.V.C. and all those who would like to take part are invited to sign up. Several prizes will be given for the best stories.

B. C. STUDENTS REUNION
The annual Alumni Reunion of the University of British Columbia will be held Friday, Nov. 10th, at 10 o'clock at the Windsor Grill. Tickets, $2.00 per couple.

Universities Teach Good Time Gospel Opinion Of Tibbett

Seattle, Wash. Universities teach their students how to "have a good time in graceful fashion" in the opinion of Lawrence Tibbett, concert, opera and movie star.

Tibbett, tall and handsome and built like a football player, believes these social amenities acquired in school are a valuable asset. "The eyll of colleges and universities," he said, "is that they take one out of real life, and one loses contact with what are supposed to be his aims."

Young people are grand and this generation is straight thinking and liberty loving, Tibbett declared. "I think they will accomplish fine things, and the people on your own campus—so eager, alert, so enthusiastic and full of fun. Pupils Need Pursue Studies Further To Be Really Educated the smaller child, have been formed this year for the High School pupil and at the McGill Conservatorium even for the adult.

Van Horne Exhibit

The speaker took the opportunity of expressing appreciation of the pupils for the invitation of Lord Atholstan to see the Van Horne Collection. Such visits encourage the person's appreciation of finer things in life, also trips to museums, industries and public utilities arouse scientific interest. In conclusion, Miss Mackenzie stated that a closer cooperation is necessary between teacher and parents so that both may carry out the training of the girl at school and in the home, in mutual understanding, and a talk now and then as to the child's progress would do much in bringing this about.
